In this course you will explore the unique possibilities offered by the book as a material object. You’ll study the history of the codex, delve into the amazing rare and artist book collections at the University of Utah, make your own books, and engage with theorists on what it means to make and have books in the age of digital media.