

WRTG 4050

WRITING & CULTURAL RHETORICS

Spring 2021 IVC

WRTG 4050 focuses on the rhetorical traditions and practices of specific communities and peoples, often (although not always) focusing on the emplaced histories and contemporary rhetorics of groups who have not been included in the Greco-Roman-Western tradition. The course examines how these communities develop rhetorics to identify themselves and enact political and social change, often by drawing on distinctive cultural resources.

Students must take WRTG 2010 or equivalent prior to taking this course.

Fulfills Diversity (DV)

DEPARTMENT OF WRITING & RHETORIC STUDIES

THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

225 S Central Campus Drive Room 3700
Salt Lake City, UT 84112

(801) 581-7090 | <http://www.writing.utah.edu>